PRIVACY POLICY

Personal Information Collected

This site does not collect names or e-mail addresses unless voluntarily provided by the visitor. If you send us e-mail with a question or comment, the information you provided will be used only to respond directly to you, unless otherwise stated. Your personal information will not be released, sold or given to outside parties.

Use of Collected Information

In order to analyze traffic patterns on the website, we may collect certain information including domain names and browser types. This data does not include personal information and any information collected is held in strict confidence for the company's own internal use only; the information will not be released, sold or given to outside parties. However, when required by law to provide necessary information, Catapult3 will comply with all applicable laws.

Volunteered Information

Unsolicited information (i.e. ideas, concepts or techniques you voluntarily post or send to us) is not considered confidential, rather it is considered complimentary and may be used in developing, manufacturing, improving or marketing our products and services without charges and restrictions.

Cookies

A cookie is a small file placed on your hard drive that allows a website to be customized to enhance your visit. Catapult3 does not use cookies at this time, but we reserve the right to add this feature at a future date.
